

HLTAID001 – Provide CPR

Objective

This unit of competency describes the skills and knowledge required to perform Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) in line with the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) Guidelines.

Content

You will be trained in the recognition and management of the unresponsive victim, expired air resuscitation with and without a resuscitation mask, and cardiopulmonary resuscitation with both one and two rescuers. You will learn these techniques for both adult and infant victims. You will also learn standard precautions to minimise the risks of infection.

Selection Criteria

The principles of Access & equity will be applied in the selection of students and in the delivery of the training and assessment services.

However, participants must have basic English-speaking skills and reading skills which will be evaluated during the enrolment process. They must also have the strength and agility to manage CPR and other emergency situations.

Assessment

All assessment will be based on the principles of competency-based training and assessment. You will participate in both theory and practical sessions, which will be followed by a skills assessment performed on a resuscitation manikin and another course participant.

Additional Support

Where students require additional welfare or counseling support they will be referred to appropriate professional agencies.

Recognition of Prior Learning

If you hold a current resuscitation award to equivalent standards you may be exempted from this unit. If you have been trained in resuscitation previously but do not hold a current award, your competency can be assessed during the course and you may be exempted from this course.

National Recognition

DAN AP recognises relevant AQF qualifications and Statements of Attainment issued by other Registered Training Organisations (RTOs).

Delivery

The nominal duration of the course is three hours and it may be delivered in a single block or a several shorter blocks. The delivery and assessment methods used will be tailored to the specific training environment and the needs of the client group. However, there can be no changes to the units, elements, performance criteria or critical aspects of evidence.
